Dear Stewart:

Happy New Year! How are you? I understand you've been traveling to far corners of the world this past year.

I came across the enclosed catalog and noticed that the design and format are taken directly from your Whole Earth Catalog. I assume you've seen it; however, they've won several awards for its readability, format and information content which you should know about. The Publicity Club of Los Angeles awarded SCAG an outstanding achievement for the publication; the National Association of Regional Councils awarded it second prize; and SCAG received an honorable mention from the American Planning Association for the publication.

The short article on Page 25 explains the Santa Monica Mountains project.

Hope you are well and happy.

Sincerely yours,

Ruth
